NOVEMBER 2011

Get Ready for the Holidays!

The holidays are always busy! It's almost time to gear up and get ready, and the Library has lots of resources and classes to help you this season!

A big part of the holidays is, of course, gift-giving, and with the plethora of new technologies and electronic devices, you want to make sure that you know what you're giving. If you are considering a new tablet for a special someone and are confused about the different options, consider attending one of the three sessions of the program "Tablets: Touching the Future." You'll walk away with valuable information for making your gift decisions.

Also, if you are considering other purchases, consult the online Consumer Reports Database, accessible through the library website with your library card number and PIN. You can check the ratings and reviews of products before making a purchase.

Another favorite part of the holidays each year is the food! If you need to look up some favorite, traditional recipes or want to try something new, don't forget about our large cookbook collection and cooking magazines!

If you are feeling creative this season, check out some of the holiday crafting and decorating books. Learn how to make a candle, garland, or greeting cards — try something new!

Also, come to the Library on November 29th for a program on holiday decorating. Ben Lee from The Milam House, one of Frankfort's decorating experts, will be presenting.

And the holidays would not be complete without music! We have a large collection of Christmas CDs in the Library, and you can also download songs from Freegal, an online music catalog accessible through the Library website with your card number and PIN.

For more information about any of these resources, please contact the Information Desk. We'd be glad to help!

The Library will close at 6:00pm on Wednesday, November 23 and will be closed on Thursday, November 24 & Friday, November 25 for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Normal hours will resume on Saturday, November 26.

Storyhours are back!

The Paul Sawyer Public Library will begin its six-week fall session of story-hours for children on October 31.

There are four different storyhour programs — Mother Goose Time, Parents & Tots, Storytime, and Family Fun Night. See page two for dates and times!

All story-hours are free and open to the public; however, pre-registration is required for the weekly programs. To register your child for any of the fall story-hours, please stop by the Library or call the Youth Services Department at 352-2665 x 205.

Library Fun in Pictures...

The Lexington Vintage Dancers (above and right) led a great performance on Civil War era dances on Sept 19.

The children (right) took a field trip to the bakery during one of the Library's storyhours on Sept 22.

A Franklin County Fire Engine (left) visited the Library for a program on Sept 27. Kids got to see the truck up close.

Watch out, Frankfort! We have superheroes (above)! Sept 22.

Kids (right) had a blast playing life-size Candyland on Sept 29 & 30.

James Pritchard (left) presented on Frankfort's role in the Civil War on Oct 17.

The Central Kentucky Career Center led a great program on interviews on Oct 3 (left) and a resume writing workshop on Oct 10 (right) as part of our Career Workshop Series.
